About This Game

Defend colonists against relentless waves of ruthless insects with nothing more than your wits, your determination, and a sub-orbital 3d-printer. In a distant corner of the galaxy, what was meant to be a routine repair job has turned into a nightmarish scenario for a young technician thrust upon the front lines of a crisis. Armed only with the tools at hand on a planet teeming with colonists (and not much else), Lt. Oro will need more than just a little help from some new friends.

A planet in crisis cut-off from the rest of galactic civilization. A reluctant engineer whom just happens to be the only ranking military officer for lightyears. A military-surplus sub-orbital 3D-printer with a basic AI. A horde of relentless mutated insects. A looming prophecy regarding the future of the universe.

- Deploy your defenses against hundreds of hoarding insects swarming your base
- Adapt to the situation as the AI adapts to you
- Multiple types of turrets ranging from the basic Rifle Turret to the deadly D.U.M.E. Laser
- Intervene personally with an orbital bombardment, or deploy a healing mesh to repair damages from the attack
- Watch your turrets level up and become more deadly as they survive the onslaught

- Follow the the story in Story Mode as you dive further into the mystery
- Jump into Skirmish Mode where every battle and challenge is different, with generated maps and randomized enemies
